AFTER 16 years, Kampar's Restoran Karaoke Yau Kee's Prosperity Chicken Bread is still as popular as ever with the delicacy remaining a hot item with customers from Malaysia and even neighbouring countries.

Restaurant owner Yau Hon Seng, 45, said he had sold his chicken bread to customers from Taiwan, Indonesia, Singapore, Hong Kong and Thailand.

"Once, I received an order to pack one for a local resident who is travelling to the United States," he said.

The dish comes in two flavours, curry or herbal chicken. The dish is cooked and then baked inside a layer of dough for 20 minutes to a golden brown.

But the curry chicken is more popular with only 20% of the customers opting for the herbal chicken.

Preparation for the chicken usually takes an hour.

The delicacy is sold at RM38 for a whole chicken or RM21 for a half chicken, and its demand usually picks up during the Chinese New Year season.

"During the Chinese New Year, I can sell around 300 to 400 boxes. Usually I sell about 70 boxes a day and up to 200 boxes during the weekend.

"The herbal chicken ingredients include include six herbs believed to have healing properties, especially for the eyes and female reproductive system, Yau said.

Yau said that his chicken bread idea came from the popular Chinese Beggar's Chicken dish following his 1986 visit to Hong Kong.

"In the olden days, legend has it that a beggar once stole a chicken and baked it whole after covering it with mud.

"Once cooked, the beggar cracked the mud covering to eat the chicken meat, without the feathers which had lodged in the mud shell."

After observing how people in Hong Kong covered the chicken using a special type of mud for the Beggar's Chicken, Yau decided to use bread instead as mud was too messy.

Yau receives orders for his chicken bread from Sitiawan and other parts of Perak, and he usually delivers 100 boxes to Sitiawan three times a month. Many customers from places like Penang and Kuala Lumpur would drive all the way to Yau's shop at Jalan Idris in Kampar just to buy a box of the chicken bread steaming hot from the oven.
